Vladimir Kakurinov

Vladimir Kakurinov is a Full Professor in Food Microbiology and Food Quality and Safety. With 21 years of academic experience and Food Institute Chairman at the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences and Food, Ss. Cyril and Methodius University, Skopje he is now working at the Veterinary Faculty at St. Kliment Ohridski/Republic of Macedonia.

Worked as an accredited trainer and consultant for 15 years in the fields of food safety and hygiene, both in Europe and developing or transitional countries worldwide, with focus on meat, dairy, baking, fruit, vegetables, feed and bottled water industries, and over 700 individual trainees from over 250 companies and institutions.

Professor Kakurinov acted as an evaluator and National Contact Point (NCP) in the European Commission - 6th framework programmes for food, agriculture and biotechnology. He was a President of the Board of Experts at INCEBO (International Certification Body) for HACCP and GLOBALGAP. Further, he is a national CAP (Common Agricultural Policy) key group member, responsible for Food Safety and Quality in Macedonia.

He is also President of the National Commission for information in the food quality and safety sector and a key member of the national Good Agricultural Practice group. Professor Kakurinov is an author of many scientific publications, the first author of the first European Glossary of terms in Food Quality and Safety recognized by the European Community and licensed translator in Macedonian language for Eurovoc Thesaurus 4.3.

Contact Details:
Professor Vladimir Kakurinov
Veterinary Faculty at St. Kliment Ohridski University
Nikola Tesla, 18-1/18, 1000 Skopje, Republic of Macedonia
Phone: +389 (0)2 3067418 Mobile: +389 70/688-652
E-Mail: vladimir.kakurinov@key.com.mk, kakurinov.vladimir@gmail.com